STATE DESIGNATES NEXT WEEK TO BE CLEAN-UP WEEK

Urges All Communities To Join in State-Wide
Movement

IS HEALTH PRECAUTION

Outline a Program for Each Day of The Week

Monday will mark the opening of the annual clean-up week throughout the state and a number of local communities have arranged to have a general house cleaning program.

The date has been designated by the State Departments of Health, Welfare, Forests and Waters, Bureau of Fire Protection, and State Police.

Cities, boroughs, small communities and individuals throughout the Commonwealth are again urged to co-operate with the State in the observance of these activities.

The following is suggested merely as a general guide for this observance:

Monday—April 23rd, Highway Day. All sidewalks and streets should be cleaned, gutters cleared, ditches opened and sewers flushed.

Tuesday—April 24th, Forestry Day. Do not burn brush, leaves, or other debris in or near the forests on dry, windy days. Select a damp, rainy day on which to burn, and do not leave the fire unguarded until it is entirely extinguished.

Do not smoke while fishing from the banks of streams, or while walking or riding through the woods. Take time out for a smoke and then be sure that the burning batches and tobacco are thoroughly extinguished by water or by burying them in moist soil.

Do not build camp fires among leaves or under overhanging brush. Scrape a cleared space free of leaves, and build the fire on the bare soil. Extinguish it thoroughly with water or with soil before leaving it.

Wednesday—April 25th, Fly and Mosquito Day. All cesspools should be cleaned and lined. Out-houses should be made fly-proof and stable yards, pig pens and chicken coops cleaned. Water holes should be filled, spouting mended and garbage cans thoroughly cleaned and secured.

Thursday—April 26th, Junk Day. The accumulation of junk and trash, particularly in attics and cellars, consisting of old books, papers, clothes, rags, bottles, cans and ashes should be removed. In addition, cellars should be thoroughly cleaned and whitewashed.

Experience indicates that, thanks to community cooperation, including officials, chambers of commerce, welfare organizations and civic clubs, such a program along the lines above suggested will be followed with most excellent sanitary results.

The Department of Health says: The accumulation of the winter's debris represents a distinct menace to the health of adults and particularly to little children. With the warm weather the fly again becomes exceedingly active, locates for breeding places in yards, plots of ground and on farms where vegetable matter and other fly-drawing substances have been permitted to accumulate over the winter months.

Repeated campaigns for the removal of fly breeding spots have been of decided advantage and the people are comparatively well educated on the possibilities of the fly as a disease carrier.

Therefore, not only do good house-keeping and ordinary sanitary principles indicate the necessity of a prompt removal of all waste matter in or around the neighborhood of yards of homes, but the definite lessening of the spread of diseases, especially those affecting infants, is vitally connected with this procedure.

The time to swat the fly is to swat her breeding place and thus remove before they come into being literally millions of flies, any one of which under proper circumstances and opportunity can inflict disease-dealing blows.

Clean-Up Week among other things suggests this intensive aggression against the common house fly. Cleanliness is its greatest enemy, filth and dirt its most powerful ally. Therefore, remove nuisances and waste material now and keep them from becoming potential disease and death breeders.

The Department of Forests and Waters says: Of Pennsylvania's 13 million acres of woodland at least five million acres have been kept in an ideal condition by fire. In Penn's Woods more timber has been kept from reaching merchantable size as a result of fire than was ever harvested by lumbermen. Only a few million acres now have merchantable timber upon them. The balance has only young growth, and vast areas are covered with nothing but brushy thickets of little value except as soil cover.

The forests of Pennsylvania are valuable. In our great National emergency, especially during the past winter, they furnished labor for some 20,000 emergency conservation work-

Twice rewarded for bravery in the course of a consistently excellent career as a patrolman, the 36 year old prisoner was captured by a fellow officer just a few minutes after he had flashed a revolver in the face of a girl clerk and robbed the office of Seegal & Sons, of a $462.00 payroll.

STATE WANTS TO SELL FORGE KEPT IN BUCKS CO.

Bought It In Belief It Was Used by Washington's Army

HISTORY NOW IN DOUBT

HARRISBURG, Apr. 21—(INS)—For sale—somewhere in Bucks County—one antique forge complete but not used by Washington's army during the Revolution as originally believed. The seller is the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the buyer, Walter Scott, deputy secretary of the department of property and supplies, hopes, will be an historical society or other similar organization.

The department of forests and waters bought the forge in the belief the relic was once used by the troops at Valley Forge. And close scrutiny of its past history developed the fact that Washington's soldiers never used the forge.

So the Commonwealth no longer cares to move the forge to Valley Forge Park, but wants to dispose of it to a museum or historical group.

Advertisements for bids may appear when Scott finds out a little more about what he has on his hands to sell. To date he is not even positive just where in Bucks County the forge is located.

TAX RATE STAYS SAME FOR NEWTOWN BOROUGH

Borough and School Rates
Total 20 Mills On Low
Valuation

PRESENT THE BUDGET

NEWTOWN, Apr. 21—Borough Council at an adjourned session fixed the tax rate for this year at six mills, the same as 1933.

Due to the custom in Newtown of top dressing all the streets of the borough every two years, and this being the year, the finance committee was required to pare some items closely to keep the six mills rate.

Commeilmen stated their opinion that Newtown with every street a hard surface street, the town well lighted, all year around collection of garbage and excellent fire protection, was in good condition.

The combined taxes, county, 4 mills; school, 14 mills, and borough, 6 mills, are but 24 mills on a moderate valuation.

While there is an outstanding bond issue of $9500, more than that amount is deposited in a sinking fund to meet the bonds as they retire.

The budget was presented by David L. Watson chairman of the finance committee.

It provides for top dressing and care of the streets, $4000; street lighting and rent of fire plugs, $3000; board of health activities, $400; salaries, and interest, $1075; insurance, $486; fire company, $575; C. W. A. projects, $395; new gutters, $600; and miscellaneous items.

The total amount appropriated for the year was $11,120.

Joseph Bellmeyer appeared before Council to ask that dirt piled upon his lot on East Centre avenue by C. W. A. workers be removed so that he can plough the lot for a garden.

Council received a letter from the insurance company carrying the workmen's compensation insurance stating that in the future the borough will be liable for C. W. A. workers.

William Fabian made an application for gutters along his four properties on Jefferson street.

GUARDING CHILDREN

Chicago, Ill., Apr. 21—Three new moronic attacks upon young children today sent Chicago police, medical and school authorities into a concerted effort to identify and segregate the moronic school children. The latest case, the fourth during the past two weeks, was that of a four year old girl attacked and mutilated by a "curious" boy wielding a steel file. The victim, Viola Betty Transon, was in a serious condition at her home, while the assailant, 9 year old Kenneth Palmetter, was held by juvenile authorities. Kenneth, a third grade pupil, has confessed the crime, almost a parallel to the tragic death last week of Doretta Zielow, two and a half years old. Calmly admitting his offense, the boy declared he got the idea from discussing the Zielow case. He lured Betty into a garage, partially disrobed her and assaulted her with the file. Kenneth is the son of Mrs. Sue Palmetter, who is a stenographer for the Bartenders Union. Police viewed with significance the fact that the father, an ex-service man, is confined in Elgin, Illinois Hospital for the insane.

This is the time for the usual business meeting, but owing to the fact that a program of unusual interest will be presented at this time, it was unanimously decided to observe this as Guest Day and the members will be afforded the opportunity of bringing their friends to this meeting.

Guest Day was also observed at the meeting which was featured by a concert by Clarence Kohlmann, organist of the Ocean City Tabernacle. Mr. Kohlmann delighted his audience with a large number of piano selections, including old favorites, classical numbers and three of his own composition.

Having recently come into possession of a number of pictures of old Germantown, Miss Anna Search Cliff and Mrs. George Cliff gave the members some very interesting information concerning this old settlement. The pictures, a number of which were taken more than 30 years ago, proved quite clear and interesting.

The pictures showed the old home of Pastorius as well as some of the other early settlers. Scenes of time of the colonial mansions which were prominent during the Battle of Germantown were also depicted.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served.

COAL DEALERS DISCUSS REQUIREMENTS OF CODE

Provision for Increasing Price
If Dealer Finds He Is Not Making Money

LEARN REQUIREMENTS

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 21—Ninety Bucks county persons who retail coal or any other product of the solid fuel industry Thursday night attended a meeting in the Bucks county Court House when the code of fair competition for their industry was explained in detail. The code is a national regulation under the NRA.

The meeting was called by Claude S. Wetherill, Jr., of Bristol, and was presided over by John Merritt, of Reading, secretary of the Pennsylvania Retail Coal Merchants' Association.

Those in attendance included dealers and truckers who were informed as to the provisions of the code.

The code authority has a right to declare that an emergency exists when a dealer or dealers find that they cannot make a fair profit and at the same time pay the minimum wages under the reduced working hour schedule. If this emergency should arise, conferences will then be held and the price for handling coal will be investigated and a minimum price will be set, under which no persons will be allowed to sell coal.

In all Bucks county coal yards, as a result of the NRA, wages have been increased and working hours reduced. For eight months the schedule calls for 48 hours weekly and 8 hours a day. For a four-month period, May, June, July and August, there is a 49-hour week working scheduled or not more than eight hours a day.

The minimum wage for the Bucks county territory is 40 cents per hour, but in no case is an employee's weekly wage less than it was on July 1, 1933.

CONQUERING FOG

Fog, that ancient enemy of ocean navigation and a no less peril to modern air travel, seems to have been conquered in one sphere and to be well on the way to being eliminated in the other.

Captain Flavel M. Williams, master mariner, explorer and inventor of the fog camera, says the usefulness of the camera on sea has been fully tested and demonstrated and that its development in a revised form for use on aircraft is imminent.

His statement was made in connection with the presentation to him of a special gold medal of the American Museum of Safety in recognition of his invention of the camera.

According to Commodore Randall, captain of the steamship Manhattan and former master of the Leviathan, the camera, which makes use of infra-red rays, is "one of the greatest aids ever given navigation." He based his observation on the results of the use, since early this year, of the fog camera on the coast of Plymouth, England. When a thick haze reduced visibility to a mile and a half, he said a photograph taken by the camera at a distance of three miles showed clearly the salient features of the shore.

If the camera can be made as useful aboard airships as on steamers, it will mean the introduction of a new and valuable safety device in aviation.

AUTO PROBLEM IN ENGLAND

Rapidly growing automobile fatalities have brought about a situation in England similar to that in the United States. The problem of prevention has become an urgent one.

Last year 7,202 persons were killed and 216,329 injured in the United Kingdom.

These figures have served to arouse the public as well as officials to the necessity of finding means of reducing automobile accidents. Among steps already taken is the introduction of a system of safety zones for pedestrians in London. But fatalities are by no means confined to London and other cities. Many occur in the rural districts. In an effort to deal with this condition, a bill has been introduced in parliament to require the institution of special crossings in the country and to penalize pedestrians who walk dangerously with respect to automobile traffic.

England has an enviable record in law enforcement and the prevention of crime. The automobile safety problem is hardly less important than the crime problem. The United States has failed to solve it through either law or education. England's handling of it, therefore, will be followed with interest in this country, where the situation has reached a critical stage.

The Baltimore reader's objection to published war pictures, that they were "unattractive," has been filed with the comment of Dillinger's father on the police, "I think they're making a mountain out of a molehill."

The slogan that made America great was "Let's go," not "Let's watch him."

Dillinger seems to be as adept in staying out as he was in getting out.

COMMUNICATION

The following communication was received by the Courier from the Rev. Howard W. Gursler, secretary to the Rev. Donald Gray Barnhouse, and pastor of Wilkison Memorial M. E. Church, Croydon:

4303 VanKirk Street, Phila., Pa., April 18, 1934.

The Bristol Courier Gentlemen:

This coming Sunday will be my last Sunday as pastor of the Wilkison Memorial M. E. Church of Croydon, as I am leaving on April 29th for a 16-months' tour of the world. You have been so kind to us during the past two and a half years that I have been passioning your people. I am going to see them for all the money they have. Then the real trouble begins. If it's a woman, I'm going to beat the life out of her. If it's a man, Johnny is going to do the beating."

Lupe has been burning for weeks about one unsigned gossip item that appeared in a local paper. She tells me she'll pay $50 to anyone who'll supply the name of the writer.

"It's hard enough to make a marriage last in Hollywood without having lies told about you," exploded the star. "Maybe I've talked too much about Johnny and me. Well, I'm going to be mighty careful whom I talk to after this and they'd better not misquote me."

Personal to Lupe: You know, of course, that I'm a jiu-jitsu expert and that Mrs. Carroll always carries a knife.

They say that alcohol dulls the brain. If so, a certain Hollywood writer must be the exception that proves the rule.

The other night, after taking many drinks aboard at a late spot, he got mixed up with a party of people and found himself in the Laurel Canyon home of a perfect stranger. A photograph album lay on a table at his side and he opened it up to the picture of a haughty dowager.

"Who is this fussy looking old eagle?" he asked his neighbor.

Just then the host came up with drinks. He said lustily: "That happens to be my mother."

Came an awful silence, then the writer turned upon the assembly a stricken face.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.,—Gossips and chatter-writers may take fair warning. Lupe Velez is boiling over about late rumors and breathes threats of legal and physical reprisals unless they stop.

"People in Hollywood haven't the nerve to fight back, but I have," stormed the peppery little star. "I feel sorry for the next person who tells or prints a lie about me or Johnny."

"First, I'm going to sue them for all the money they have. Then the real trouble begins. If it's a woman, I'm going to beat the life out of her. If it's a man, Johnny is going to do the beating."

MORRISVILLE LEAGUE OPENS SEASON TODAY

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 21.—Completion of the circuit, make-up of the schedule and the opening date were discussed at a meeting of the Morrisville Community Baseball League held in Borough Hall, when the managers of the four teams met with the league officials to arrange the final details for the organization.

The teams which comprise the circuit are: Union Fire Company, managed by Frank Miller; Capitol View Fire Company, piloted by Mahlon MacPherson; Civic Club, with Howard Sultzback, and the Robert Morris team, with Bill Shultz as manager. An application was received from Francis Harrop for the Miller A. A. of Trenton, but it was decided to go along with the four teams originally admitted.

Saturday was voted as the opening date and on this occasion there will be elaborate ceremonies with Mayor Thomas B. Stockham tossing out the first ball. The league schedule will be compiled by John Henson, who will also take charge of all contracts.

The league voted to let the board of directors have charge of selecting and assigning the umpires as well as settle all disputes. Percy Allison was elected as groundkeeper. President Bernard Gear presided. The next meeting will be held Wednesday night, April 25th, in the Borough Hall.

CHECK STATE COSTS

DENVER — (INS) — A sincere and thorough attack on the high cost of government in Colorado is being carried on by a committee appointed by Gov. Ed. C. Johnson. The taxation committee is one of a number of special interim committees covering social legislation authorized by the last session of the state legislature and to provide a legislative program which will eliminate much of the confusion that has attended past sessions.

Yesterday, on the Bensalem diamond, the Bristol High Bunnies took undisputed possession of first position in the Lower Bucks County League by trimming the Blue and White of Bensalem, 5 to 3.

"Mel" Wright again pitched a nice ball game for the Red and Gray, limiting the Bensalem nine to five hits. Bristol collected nine from the offerings of "Bill" Scott, basketball star, who twirled the whole route for Bensalem.

Bristol scored first when in the opening inning, "Sammy" Ross, with the bases full, came through with a single to right, scoring two runs.

Bensalem tied it up in the latter half of the same canto when "Dick" Lukens, hard-hitting catcher of the home team sent a screaming double to left centre, scoring Severns and Jones with the tying tally.

In the next fray, Bensalem forged ahead on Rigby's single, a sacrifice, and Robinson's second hit of the day, scoring one run to make the count, 3-2.

In the third inning Bristol once more made it even, as Rockhill beat out an infield hit and "Johnnie" Dick slammed a double, scoring "Rock."

The "Bunnies" took the lead in the fourth, never to be overtaken. Wright managed to gain first by virtue of an error. After two outs Dick singled to bring over Wright with another run.

The scoring was finished in the seventh as "Sam" Ross hit a single, and Lukens, Bensalem receiver, threw into center field to score Ross.

Captain "Jim" Robinson, shortstop, led the Bensalem club in hitting with two hits. Four Bristol players in Stallone, Rockhill, Dick and Ross, each gained two bingles for the Red and Gray.

Tuesday the "Bunnies" travel to Willow Grove to clash with the strong Upper Merion nine there.

This schedule applies to the junior group only as the seniors do not begin to play until Wednesday. In case of rain the games will be played on Tuesday.

State Designates Next Week As Clean-Up Week

ers located in the civilian conservation corps camps throughout the State, and some 7,000 men employed under the Civilian Works Administration. The more the forests contribute to our welfare, the more we should do to protect and perpetuate them.

Fire not only kills and injures the growing timber, but it destroys the seeds, the small seedlings, and the sprouts that must be depended upon to produce the forests of the future. Fire causes the loss of game and fish. Insectivorous birds, their young and their eggs, are destroyed by fire. Fire destroys the scenic beauty of our wooded mountains. Green forests, with their streams steadily clear and flowing, are made desolate when fire sweeps through them.

Practically every fire that burns in the woodlands of our State is the result of man's carelessness and is therefore preventable. Fishermen, hikers, motorists, campers, and sportsmen generally are requested to be careful with fire when they are in the woods. When a fire is detected, a good citizen will make an effort to put it out. If he cannot extinguish it, he should report it promptly to the nearest fire warden, of whom there are 4,000 in Pennsylvania, ready and equipped to respond to forest fire calls.

Remember that forest fire is every man's enemy and nobody's friend.

The Bureau of Fire Protection, State Police, says: Fire has been, and will be unless kept under control, a scourge to mankind. More so now than ever before is the need urgent to prevent the disastrous results occasioned by fire, so that nothing will interfere with our promising return to better times. Fires, particularly in the field of employment, throw large groups of people out of work and bring about economic reverses. This must be avoided. Fires in the home often destroy lifetime savings, and elsewhere the fire menace disturbs orderly living and creates in Pennsylvania a staggering tax of approximately $25,000,000 a year, not to mention the appalling sacrifice in human life and suffering to the extent of 2,000 fatalities and casualties each year.

Uncontrolled fire leaves no salvage. What it touches is irreparably lost, and the resources of our country are to that extent diminished. It follows that no greater service can be rendered than an individual contribution of interest and activity in the preventing a fire for the public good.

We must, of necessity, repeat what has been stated again and again, that not less than 80 per cent. of the fire losses in Pennsylvania have been found to have occurred through the carelessness, indifference and neglect of the people. Careful housekeeping in the homes and in places of business, where most fires occur, and the incentive to be watchful for the common fire hazards, will unquestionably curtail our annual fire waste to a very appreciable extent.

The solution of our fire waste problem lies mainly with the people themselves, and the recognition of this fact is forcibly indicated now, so that during the Spring clean-up period proper attention and action may and will be manifested in checking for the conditions and combinations that invite and cause fire, and arrangements made for their correction or removal.

The Department of Welfare says: In supervising the many State institutions under its control, the Pennsylvania Department of Welfare constantly emphasizes the vital importance of cleanliness in all phases of institutional life. Habits of personal cleanliness cannot be expected of the inmates of State schools and hospitals if their surroundings, the buildings in which they live, and the materials with which they work are not maintained in neat, orderly manner.

The Department of Welfare takes this opportunity to stress benefits to be derived from a Clean-Up Week campaign to hospitals, almshouses, county prisons, penal and correctional institutions and homes.

Institution heads are urged to extend the campaign to the grounds and building exteriors. This will serve to add much to the physical appearance of the properties. It is suggested that waste materials from truck patches and woodlots be collected and burned, while drives and entrances to institution grounds may be improved greatly through a few hours of clean-up activity.

Out-of-the-way storage rooms, cellars, attics, closets and all places where materials not in daily use are kept, are undoubtedly dust catchers and perhaps contributory fire hazards. These places should be inspected during the week as to the possible presence of trash, oily rags, waste paper or other inflammable materials.

During Clean-Up Week it is suggested plans be laid for intensive campaigning against flies. General cleaning regulations and methods, proper screening and garbage disposal will aid greatly in reducing this menace and eliminate the need for deodorants in institutional cleaning activities is questionable. The plentiful but judicious use of soap and water should result in the desired cleanliness and eliminate the need for deodorants.

GROUP TO APPEAR IN PROGRAM HERE ON MONDAY NIGHT

An unique service is to be held in the Bristol M. E. Church Monday evening when the 'Students' League of Many Nations' will appear at 7:45 o'clock.

The group is coming with entire equipment in a big special bus. They will have many large and beautiful flags of different countries, standards, and platform scenery.

At this service, members of the noted group will dress in national costume, speak or sing in their native language and translate, depict conditions of Europe and other countries, and give snatches of personal experiences.

The Russian who has suffered great persecutions will thrill you with his experience; born in Russia, who escaped under thrilling circumstances, will be one of the speakers. The Spirit of America with her silk flag about which she weaves her message has brought many a great audience to their feet, as they applauded again and again.

This prominent group have traveled through every state in the United States, also in Canada and Mexico, in the past—think of it! Over a million people have witnessed their service. Words of praise fall from the lips of thousands who are amazed when they realize the tremendous power and influence wielded by this organization.

One of America's Singles Aces

By BURNLEY

SHIELDS, OUR NO. 1 SINGLES ACE, WILL START PRACTICE WITH THE U. S. DAVIS CUP SQUAD SOON.

HEY, NOT SO HARD

THE WIMBLEDON COURTS ARE MADE TO ORDER FOR THE SEVERE STROKING OF SHIELDS AND STOEFFEN

Frank SHIELDS
--READY FOR A BIG SEASON!

NEXT month the United States Davis Cup squad will gather at the Merion Cricket Club in Philadelphia for their first practice sessions under the guidance of the new captain, R. Norris Williams, II.

Frank Shields, Lester Stoeffen, Sidney Wood, George Lott and Wilmer Allison form the nucleus of Uncle Sam's cup forces this year, and the all important singles berth will probably be held down by Shields and Stoeffen.

These two giants of the tennis court—both are well over six feet tall—are determined to make this a big year for U. S. tennis. They both specialize in a severe stroking game and they expect to be very effective on the fast Wimbledon turf courts.

For years the American players have been handicapped by playing the final Davis Cup rounds on the slow-up French clay courts, which were made to order for the crafty French racket wielders. The clay surface—some say it was dampened purposely to take the sting out of the Americans' speedy drives—rendered the United States players almost helpless before Cochet, Lacoste and company.

At Wimbledon, where the finals will be played this summer, Shields and Stoeffen will have no excuse.

Shields in particular, our No. 1 ranking singles player, is determined to make this his biggest season. Long an in-and-outter, if he trains seriously for the coming cup competition he may surprise both the British and the other European zone finalists.
